Not illustrated. 1816 Excerpt: . . . DISCUSSION ON THE QUESTION Whether Inhabitants of the United States, born there before the Independence, are, on coming to this Kingdom, to be considered as Natural-born Subjects f 1 Thought the affirmative of this question was acknowledged by all lawyers. One authority, it seems to me, is sufficient to support it; I mean, what is laid down in Calvins case, on the supposition that the crown of Scotland might, possibly, be separated from that of England: upon which point the judges resolved, That all those who were born under one natural obedience, while the realms were united under one sovereign, should remain natural-born subjects, and no aliens; for that naturalization, due and vested by birthright, cannot, by any separation of the crowns afterwards, be taken away; nor he that was by judg s ment of law a natural subject at the time of his...
